

BUSTED STAR REVEALS TEENAGE CANNABIS HELL

Former BUSTED star MATT WILLIS became hooked on cannabis aged just 13 and admits the drug made his boy band days a living hell. The British singer only gave up his smoking habit in 2005, after realising it was wrecking both his personal life and career. He says, "I used to be hooked on weed. I began when I was 13 and by the time Busted made it big I was accustomed to it. I smoked it every single day. It was a way of life. "You become immune to its effects, or at least you think you do, when suddenly you find yourself turning a bit weird. "If I smoked, I'd become paranoid and forget everything. My memory was shot to pieces. I had no confidence. I always felt I was bad with people, but it was because I was always stoned." <BR

03/01/2007 08:01

http://www.contactmusic.com/news.nsf/article/busted%20star%20reveals%20teenage%20cannabis%20hell_1017775